

WAS READY FOR SECOND POLE

May Saw No Probability That First One Would Stand Continued Strain Upon It.

Rabbi Julius Silberfeld of the B'nai Abraham temple, in High street, in addressing his congregation on the punishment of children, said: "Many fathers punish their children too severely for a misdeed, and when this happens the child goes right back and does the same thing over again. I once knew a father that tried this plan on his son. One day the father whitewashed a pole in his yard and said to his son, 'Whenever you commit a deed that you know is wrong you are to drive a nail into the pole.'"

"Some time after the boy came running to his father and explained that he had filled the pole and couldn't get another nail in edge-ways. Father and son went to the pole together, and then the father asked the son what he was going to do."

"Seeing his son had nothing to say, he suggested that the boy pull out a nail whenever he did anything wrong, whereupon the son replied, 'Why not plant another pole, father?'—Newark Star.

STRICTLY MAN OF HIS WORD

Slaworth Squeezer Might Be "Near," but No One Could Accuse Him of Untruth.

It may have been true that Slaworth Squeezer was so mean that he robbed other people's babies' banks because he had no baby of his own, but it was also true that he was strictly a man of his word.

Never had he told an untruth, and as for lying, that would have been a physical impossibility.

As our story opens, Squeezer is walking along Bayrum boulevard with the fair Esmeralda, who has just made him the happiest tightwad in the world by promising to become his'n.

Then four raindrops fell in rapid succession on Slaworth Squeezer's nose.

"There's only one explanation," cried Esmeralda. "It must be raining. Darling, I have on my new crepe de Hixmuth—it will be ruined! Call a taxi!"

"I will!" he promised before he remembered that, being strictly a man of his word, he would have to make good, cost what it may.

"Wait under the protection of this telegraph pole," he told her, and dashed off. Three blocks away 17 taxicabs were waiting to be summoned. Slaworth Squeezer rushed by them, for he had thought of a way. Half a mile farther on there wasn't a taxi in sight or sound.

"Taxi!" bellowed Slaworth Squeezer.

"Taxi!"

"Well," he reflected, "I've called one, anyway. It's not my fault if it doesn't answer."

And he returned to walk the fair Esmeralda home through the damp rain.

A Wonderful Antiseptic.

Germs and infection aggravate ailments and retard healing. Stop that infection at once. Kill the germs and get rid of the poisons. For this purpose a single application of Sloan's Liniment not only kills the pain but destroys the germs. This neutralizes infection and gives nature assistance by overcoming congestion and gives a chance for the free and normal flow of the blood. Sloan's Liniment is an emergency doctor and should be kept constantly on hand. 25c., 50c. The $1.00 size contains six times as much as the 25c.—Advertisement.

Truly a Wonder.

Pensively Patrick gazed into the pigsty and fixed his eye and knitted his brow on the fat little object that snuggled snorted to itself. "M'm!" he muttered, as shifting into a different position he viewed the piglet from another angle. Along came Betty O'Hoyle, but not even her pretty face could lure Patrick from his contemplations. "An' how's the pig, Pat?" she asked, slightly piqued by his indifference. "He's a livin' wonder!" came the emphatic answer. "Shure, an' how's that, Patrick?" inquired Betty, drawing nearer the sty. "Bejabbers," exclaimed the contemplative one, "he's just guzzled two pailfuls of milk, and then I put him in the pail and he didn't half fill it!"

Made Wrong Calculation.

The astronomer Simon Newcomb, once calculated that the maximum velocity attained by a body starting with velocity zero at an infinite distance and passing through a stellar system containing 100,000,000 stars each five times as massive as our sun and distributed throughout a disk-like spheroid of certain extent cannot exceed 40 kilometers per second. Yet the star "Groombridge 1890" has a speed nearly nine times this value, and the massive star Arcturus has a speed probably four times this value.

CODFISH ARE RAPID GROWERS

Norwegian Director of Fisheries Tries Some Interesting Experiments With Finny Revenue Producers.

The Norwegian director of fisheries, Dr. Johan Hjordst, has just concluded some interesting experiments designed to ascertain the extent of the migrations of the cod and the rate of its growth, as well as the probable rate at which the supply is being exhausted.

Last year he caught 2,400 of the fish, and after marking them, returned them to the sea. Two hundred and seventy-nine of these were caught again the same season, which shows, of course, that the drain upon the supply of cod is even larger than has been popularly supposed.

The increase in the length of a fish marked on May 26 and caught on the 19th of the following February was considerably over 100 per cent. It was shown, too, that during the period named the fish had traveled fully 1,700 kilometers.

As a result of his studies Doctor Hjordst is not inclined to pessimism as to the outlook for the industry. While admitting that the proportion of fish caught every year is extremely large, he feels certain that the rapidity of their growth and the extent of their migrations are factors that will prevent a too serious drain upon the supply, especially when the fisheries are properly regulated by law.

LIVED BECAUSE IT WAS PAT

Like Many Another Americanism, "Anxious Seat" Needs No Apology for Its Use Anywhere.

We are indebted to a contemporary for the information that an American preacher named Finney invented the term "anxious seat" as the name of the bench upon which those convicted of sin at revivals might sit to signify their desire for prayers. The expression was coined seventy or eighty years ago and must have been slang in its day. Having originated in this country, it bears the added opprobrium of being an Americanism and so should have been doomed to death according to the purists' standard long ago. It didn't die, perhaps because its original slanginess made it so much more snappy than its British equivalent, "penitent form," but what we are wondering about is whether Billy Sunday's much-herated vocabulary may not supply some words to the stock of the revivalist that will some day be as respectable as this bit of verbal coinage which was new in the '30s and is venerable now.—St. Louis Republic.

RARELY SEEN.

Senator Williams began a toast at a June wedding with a remark:

"I have seen girls so timid and shrinking that they were afraid to go bathing for fear they might drown, afraid to go rowing for fear the boat might upset, afraid to go driving for fear the horse would run off, and afraid of injuring themselves internally, but I never yet saw a girl who was afraid to get married."

BLIGHTED AMBITIONS.

"No hard feelings in our school. All the girls wore the same kind of graduation dresses that cost $2.98 each."

"A sensible plan."

"However, the decision was a great blow to wealthy parents, who felt, for the time being, that they had acquired riches in vain."

NO WAY TO TELL.

"How did the accident happen?"

"I can't make it out. According to the statements neither side was in any way to blame."—Detroit Free Press.

"Yep. They've just finished another forty-story building."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
